During the Cold War era, the normative tensions between principles of human rights and non-intervention were suppressed by bipolar tensions (Glanville 2011:248). Additionally, the superpowers were largely indifferent to what happened inside the other block and were incapable of doing much about atrocity crimes because of the NCERT Solutions for Class 12 Political Science The Cold

Praise for David E. Hoffman’s The Billion Dollar Spy: The Billion Dollar Spy is one of the best spy stories to come out of the Cold War and all the more riveting... for being true. It hits the sweet spot between page-turning thriller and solidly researched history (even the footnotes are informative) and then becomes something more, a shrewd character study of spies and the...
The Cold War (1953–1962) discusses the period within the Cold War from the death of Soviet leader Joseph Stalin in 1953 to the Cuban Missile Crisis in 1962. Following the death of Stalin, new leaders attempted to “de-Stalinize” the Soviet Union causing unrest in the Eastern Bloc and members of the Warsaw Pact. In spite of this, there was a calming of international tensions, the &
The Cold War was a global political and ideological struggle between capitalist and communist countries, particularly between the two surviving superpowers of the postwar world: the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR). A new chapter in the Cold War began on October 1, 1949, when the CCP, led by Mao Zedong...
The Cold War led to several shooting wars but it did not lead to another World War despite direct confrontations in Korea (1950-53), Berlin (1958-62) and the Congo (the early 1960s).
